

From the Jan 11, 2019 release of the Native Plant Society News

Tuesday, February 5

6:30 pm - Wolf High-Technology Center

Carol Cloud Bailey on Color in Native Gardens

Like flying pollinators, humans seem naturally attracted to color. Carol Cloud Bailey tackles the perennially favorite topic of color in the garden. Bailey grew up in the Florida plant business and knows a thing or two about the challenges and rewards of maintaining a garden in South Florida. You may have read her practical gardening column in the Treasure Coast News. The talk is sure to be filled with useful take-home ideas for gardening with a local flair.

Saturday, February 9

9:00 am

Hospice House Butterfly Garden

Stuart

The butterfly garden at Hospice House offers a contemplative island away from the worries of the world. No matter the season or what's in bloom, the butterflies and the caterpillars continue their life cycle in this quiet refuge. Join Bailey as she walks through the practical aspects of this special garden. Enter via the Mayes Center, 1201 SE Indian St., Stuart, FL 34997. Follow around to the left. The butterfly garden is just past the large Mayes Center Building. Gather in the parking lot at 8:50am.